

Subsidiaries outperform

We increase TP to Rs2710 (previously 2690) and upgrade to Accumulate rating. Increase in TP is due to valuation roll forward. In 2QFY26, the core pipes business saw modest growth as strong offtake was offset by weak realizations. The consolidated performance was uplifted by robust growth in subsidiaries. Similarly, margins got a boost due to surge in operational profit at the spooling business and Ravi Technoforge. Importantly, order book recovered QoQ, driven by large CS pipes orders, thereby improving revenue visibility. While over a longer term, new cold finishing plant in Saudi, expansion of CS pipe and bearing ring capacities and spooling business will drive growth, we remain cautious on the short-term prospects of the CS pipe business. Accumulate on dips.

- Strong subsidiary momentum drives revenue growth: RMT reported 23% yoy growth in consol. revenues at Rs11.9bn, led by contribution from subsidiaries (Ravi Technoforge: Rs956mn, +40% YoY; Spooling: Rs1.1bn, ~18x YoY). Standalone pipes & tubes revenue grew modestly due to adverse pricing i.e. volumes grew 23.5% YoY to 65.1kt, while realizations declined 15% YoY.
- Standalone margins weak; consol. margins expand: Consolidated EBITDA stood at Rs2.1bn (+38% YoY) with margins at 17.7% (+192bps YoY / +139bps QoQ) supported by spooling margins of >30% and improving profitability at Ravi (~13%). Standalone EBITDA margin was ~15%, under management's guided band due to adverse product mix. Consolidated PAT came at Rs1.36bn (+36% YoY) aided by higher other income and no finance cost. Management reiterated margin comfort in the 16-18% range despite near-term pressure in CS water segment.
- Muted outlook for pipes business, but subsidiaries and exports drive confidence: The bearing ring business at Ravi Technoforge is expected to ramp up margins due to automation and improved demand. The spooling business with an order book of Rs5bn is also expected to scale up revenues exponentially in FY26 with high margins catering to the nuclear demand. In the pipes segment, domestic demand for CS line pipes remains muted, however few large orders especially from water segment has improved the order book on QoQ basis. Effectively, total order book now stands at Rs20bn as of 1st Nov'25 (SS/CS – Rs6.5bn/ Rs13.6bn), vs Rs14.7bn on 1st July'25. The weakness in domestic CS pipe order booking continues to cap near-term growth for the pipes business, however improving export traction and subsidiary momentum provide earnings support. While over a longer term, the spooling business, new cold finishing plant in Saudi and expansion of CS pipe and bearing ring capacity will drive growth, we remain cautious on the medium-term prospects of the domestic pipes business.
- Valuation and rating: We value RMT at an average of 28x Sep'27 PE and 17x Sep'27 EV/EBITDA to arrive at TP of Rs2710 (Rs2,690 previously) and upgrade to Accumulate rating. Increase in TP is due to valuation roll forward. Key risks: Delay in recovery of Oil & gas demand, failure to ramp up margins at bearing business.

2QFY26 concall – Key takeaways

Industry:

1. Domestic CS line pipe demand: Tenders have reduced. Few tenders are expected next year. Demand is strong in Gulf countries. There is good demand for large diameter pipes to the US.
2. There are some export related orders under bidding in the CS pipe segment. If Ratnamani metals win these orders than the revenue growth can improve.
3. Bid book has orders from: Abu Dhabi - ADNOC, Saudi Aramco, SABIC, Europe hydrogen compliant pipeline.

Operations:

1. Revenue growth was modest due to softer RM cost and adverse product mix. In 1HFY26, there is volume growth, but prices have corrected.
2. Ravi Technoforge: Growth is driven from both domestic and export sales. Margins were at 13% and guidance here remains to achieve ~20% revenue growth annually. Expecting to end this year at Rs3.6-3.8bn. With a new forging line in next year, RMT is aiming for 20% growth. Exports will be 30-40% here and Ravi is exporting to Timken's plant in the US. There is no major change in the production schedule due to the imposition of tariff.
3. Spooling: This entity has a strong order visibility and will end at Rs3bn plus revenue in FY26. All the current orders are for nuclear projects. Rs5bn order book here will be completely executed by 1QFY27. New orders will be received by end of FY26. In 1QFY26, RMT sold 200tonnes in 1QFY26, out of the total capacity of 1500tonnes. Margins will remain higher than 30% for nuclear applications but once the supplies to Oil & gas starts, blended margins will go down to 22%. Nuclear will keep contributing 70% of the revenue for spooling.
4. Ratnamani Metals was the first Indian entity to service order for the Hydrogen compliant pipelines.
5. Rs7.5bn order booked in CS segment is a mix of line pipe and pipes for Oil& gas industry. 40% of this order is for water transportation.

Projects:

1. Successfully commissioned the phase 1 of Odisha plant.
2. Acquired remaining 40% stake in Ratnamani Trade EU AG Swiss entity.
3. RTL: stake reduced from 80% to 75%.
4. Construction of the Saudi plant will start in Jan 2026. This plant will help increase the market share in the Saudi market.
5. All expansion projects together will help Ratnamani to achieve Rs60bn in revenues on standalone basis. After expanding capacity at Ravi and spooling, both entities should be able to contribute to Rs7bn of revenues each.

Financials:

1. Revenue for pipes & tubes may remain flattish in FY26 but margins will be maintained in the range of 16-18%.
2. Margin pressure is in CS line pipes especially from the water segment.
3. Capex: Rs2.5bn capex for each subsidiary Ravi and Spooling.

Valuation – Accumulate with a TP of Rs2710

Valuation using PE Ratio and EV/EBITDA multiple.

RMT has historically traded at a premium (both on PE and EV/EBITDA multiples) to its peers due to its leadership position in stainless steel pipes and tubes, wide product offerings, strategy of innovation and seizing market opportunities, impeccable capital allocation and best in industry margins and return ratios. However, the recent severe slowdown in order booking for line pipes has led to reduction of the valuation multiple.

We value RMT at an average of 28x Sep'27 PE and 17x Sep'27 EV/EBITDA to arrive at TP of Rs2710 (Rs2,690 previously) and upgrade to Accumulate rating. Increase in TP is due to valuation roll forward. Key risks: Delay in recovery of Oil & gas demand, failure to ramp up margins at bearing business.
